

Thanks to the generosity of our donors, Hope Africa University's agricultural students have a new bus to transport them to the various agricultural sites the university uses as part of its education program. In addition to the bus, donors contributed to the purchase of a truck, car, and farming equipment. Recent donations have also been applied toward scholarships for Ag students.

