

On Wednesday, January 29, 2025, the officials of the Hope of Africa University, in the presence of the Bishop and Legal Representative of the Free Methodist Church and the University, Bishop Déogratias Nshimiyimana, as well as partners from the United States, presented the progress made by the UEA Institute of Agriculture and Zootechnical. In his presentation, the Rev. Rector Dr. Servilien Nitunga, addressed the challenges faced by the Institute, its development perspectives and the strategies being envisaged to overcome them with the support of the Church and partners.

Participants hailed the progress and pledged to support the University's projects, including the development of research centers, which will serve as internships for students in this field. They also pledged to help the University strengthen field practices and provided resources to facilitate student travel and scholarships. In addition, they have pledged to offer their support to establish partnerships with other organizations and institutions to enrich the student experience and impact the local community.
